Where did this come from? Danny and Michelle have had this lovely but tired example tucked away for a number of years. It was converted to right hand drive circa 1995. While it looks like a pretty nice conversion, the teardown revealed a fibreglass dash assembly as well as almost correct drag link /steering geometry. The body on this car is possibly the best convertible we have seen for a long time. Absolutely no rust anywhere. We have been instructed to restore this classic properly, while modernising the powertrain to enhance power/stopping handling etc. As the project takes shape, the pictures will reveal colour combos as well as mechanical mods, which we will introduce to make this car a knockout.....
